SPECIAL SESSION CALLED.

Governor La Follette has called a special session of the legislature to convene at Madison on Monday Dec. 4th at 3 o'clock p.m. This session is called that certain laws may be amended that he thinks necessary. Among them is the law establishing a railroad rate commission, the law relating to election ballots, etc. It is thought the session will be short.

TO BE DEDICATED SUNDAY.

The new German Evangelical Lutheran church on Stevens street will be dedicated next Sunday Nov. 26th. The work is practically completed and the pews will be in place Friday or Saturday. The church is finished inside in white pine and presents a very pleasing appearance. The vestry is at one side as in all Lutheran churches, the altar in the center. A gallery has been built in the rear for use of the choir. At the morning service Rev. Webber of Cranston will preach in German and Rev. Thiele of Wauwatosa will preach in the evening in German. An afternoon service has been arranged by Rev. DeJong, the pastor, to take place at 2:30 p.m. Rev. Thiele will preach in English. This afternoon service has been arranged by Rev. DeJong especially for the members of other churches in the city. The hour of 2:30 will not conflict with any other religious service and the members of Zion Lutheran church are proud of their structure and anxious that the people of other denominations shall be given an opportunity to attend their dedication service. Rev. DeJong has requested the New North to announce that an invitation is extended to the people of the city to be present. The Lutheran congregation here is small and great credit is due Rev. DeJong and the members for their efforts which have resulted in the erection of so fine a edifice. It is hoped the English speaking people of the city will turn out in sufficient force to tax the seating capacity of the church on the day it is formally opened as a place of worship.

THE MEN'S CLUB.

The arrangements for the proposed Men's Social Club, previously announced, are nearly complete, and promises to be an event of unusual interest.

The supper will be served in the Rapids House at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, Nov. 23. A subject of local and practical interest is to be discussed by local speakers at the post prandial feature of the evening.

The capacity of the dining room is limited to about seventy-five, and although one hundred invitations are to be sent out it is not probable the number responding will exceed the limit.

It is believed all, whether or not included in this first list, who may desire to join the movement may have opportunity. It is important that all receiving invitations should return their acceptance at once if they wish to attend, as a definite number of plates must be ordered. Tickets for the supper are fifty cents and may be obtained of Mr. S. B. Gary or at the hotel office.

LANGLADE COUNTY'S NEW COURT HOUSE.

The new court house in Antigo was dedicated last week, Monday, with appropriate ceremony, many people from the city and county being present. The principal speakers were Hon. Geo. W. Latta, the first Langlade county attorney, Judge John Goodland, and Hon. E. R. Hicks of Oshkosh.

Antigo people are justly proud of their new court house which has been building since May 1904. The total cost was $87,294. F. W. Kinney of Minneapolis was the architect, and Prince Construction Co. of Minneapolis did the work.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The circuit court convened again Monday afternoon. Harvey Revoyer, convicted of assault with intent to kill, was given two years at hard labor in Waupun. Emil Newhouse of Minocqua was found guilty of stealing a phonograph, and given 6 months. There are several cases to come up for trial, and court will probably be in session for a number of days yet.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE.

Rev. J. L. Phillips of the Free Methodist church will preach the sermon at the union service to be held in the Baptist church Thursday, Nov. 30, at 10:30 a.m.

The churches uniting in this service are the Congregational, Methodist, Baptist and Free Methodist. A general invitation is extended. A23-30

THE ARCHDEACONRY MEETING.

At the Wednesday evening service addresses were delivered by the Rev. Father Upjohn of Shawano and by Bishop Weller.

Bishop Weller said in the course of his remarks that a study of the statistics of the United States census would show that crime among the native born population has increased steadily at an increasing ratio for the past five decades, that faith in God with its accompanying belief in judgment to come is the antidote, while the extension of the church is strengthening the moral backbone of our civilization and necessary for the integrity of society and the sanctity of the home.

Thursday there were celebrations of the Holy Communion at 7 a.m. Rev. Barker, celebrant; 7:30, Archdeacon Balcock, celebrant; 8, Rev. Upjohn, celebrant; 10, Bishop Weller, celebrant.

At the Archdeaconry meeting following the 10 o'clock Eucharist, the reports by the clergy of their respective fields of labor were given. The work of the church as gathered from their reports is progressing most satisfactorily while the opportunities unfolding in this rapidly developing northern country keep ahead of the ability of the church to minister to those requesting her ministrations.

At one o'clock luncheon was served in the kitchen by the ladies of St. Augustine's Guild.

The Board of Missions met in the afternoon but owing to the absence of the secretary of the Board, but little formal business was transacted.

The Rev. Father Sanborn of Oconto who was to have read a paper at the Clericus was unable to be present owing to the serious illness of his wife. At the evening service the Rev. Father Ross of St. Andrew's church Ashland, preached a very able sermon on the education of the conscience.

Bishop Weller administered the sacrament of confirmation to a class of six presented by Archdeacon Balcock.

The congregations at the evening services were unusually large, filling the church. The visiting clergy seemed to enjoy the meeting thoroughly and expressed themselves as much delighted with Rhinelander and its spirit of enterprise and evidences of growth and progress.

WORDEN BUYS KELLOGG PLANT.

The deal was closed today by which J. H. Worden becomes the owner of the plants of the T. D. Kellogg Lbr. and Mfg. Co., including the saw and planing mills and butchery and the real estate connected therewith. The deal will have no effect upon the Kellogg Polar plant. In the purchase of this plant by J. H. Worden, Antigo is very fortunate. The deal was a personal transaction with Mr. Worden but he informs us that it will be turned over to the Wisconsin Lbr. and Mfg. Co., of which The Journal made mention sometime ago. Mr. Worden is president of this company, P. E. Peterson, vice-president, and E. P. Faust, secretary and treasurer. The company has 4200 acres of timberland in Forest, Oneida and Langlade counties and if it had not been that the company had made this deal for the Kellogg plant this timber would all have gone to Rhinelander as they had made arrangements with one of the largest saw mill concerns there to cut it. It will insure the operation of this mill for a number of years as all the timber will be shipped here. Mr. Worden also has an option on 1700 acres of timberland in this section and if the deal is closed this timber will also be brought here.

The new company will take possession about the first of December. This will give the old firm time to cut up its stock. They expect to put in between six and seven million feet of timber this winter—Antigo Journal.

APPOINTED SUPERINTENDENT.

James Clements who has occupied a position here with the Rhinelander Paper Co., departed Monday for Richwood, W. Va., where he will enter the employ of the Cherry River Paper Co. as superintendent.

See Eby the land man for all kind of bargains in timber and cut over lands. I have the largest and most complete list in the county; have several very choice pieces near the city for dairy, chicken or truck farming from 1/2 acre up. Also have a large tract of improved city property and vacant lots. Among same the U. I. Horr addition lots are selling fast. In this addition, will sell on easy terms.

Have also a first class line of fire insurance.

SPECIAL ELECTION.

Next Tuesday Nov. 25th, is the date set for holding a special election to decide the waterworks question. There are probably a few people in the city who understand the question thoroughly and would be willing to explain the situation if called upon. As near as we have been able to figure the matter out there is a plant here that is inadequate in most every way. The engine at the pumping station is not sufficiently powerful, so that a new one will probably soon be necessary. The mains were put in years ago for a small village, and on Brown street are about one fourth the size necessary. The city council proposes to purchase the plant for the sum of $75,000.00. It is for the people to decide next Tuesday. Come out and express your views by ballot.

DEATH FROM APPENDICITIS.

Mrs. Fred McIntyre of Eagle River died in a hospital at Ashland Sunday after an operation for appendicitis. The body was taken to Eagle River Monday and the funeral held from the Catholic church Tuesday morning.

Mrs. McIntyre was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Slattery, and leaves a husband and four small children, the youngest four months old, to mourn her early death. Coming so soon after the sad death of her sister, the late Mrs. Jas. Walsh of Cranston, this is a great affliction to the Slattery family.

TAX PAYER ASKS QUESTIONS.

C. M. Park, Editor New North. In regard to the special election advertised for next Tuesday in the matter of purchasing the waterworks, if you will permit me space, I would like to ask a few questions. The waterworks question is not understood by a majority of the people and it has not been brought sufficiently to the notice of the people so that they can vote intelligently upon it. Is it proposed to buy the waterworks system or bonds? Are we to pay the estimated value by bond holders or the actual value of the plant? Are we going to pay again for the improvements and extensions we have made? Why wasn't this matter considered before street paving was commenced? If we should purchase this plant for $75,000.00 now, would it not be necessary to expend an equal amount to put them in proper shape? It seems to me that the only course for the voters to take at this time would be to take the safe side and vote against the proposition until they are convinced that they understand it. If this matter is explained to the voters through the newspapers by some person who understands the situation, and voted upon at the spring election, the average citizen would be able to know how he desired to vote.

TAXPAYER.

BIG LAND DEAL.

E. S. Shepard of this city has purchased a tract of land containing about 47,000 acres north of here, containing about 100,000,000 feet of standing timber consisting of pine, hemlock, birch, basswood and other hardwood timber and he says there is lots more of the same kind of timber that could be had for the saw mills of this valley if the owners would hustle around and find it, and now that they have the where-with to buy they should make hay while the sun shines.

Substitutes for the pine that has faded away must be taken in; there is no excuse for going west or south and entering new fields while supplies are within reach of their plants and market.

A FINE ASSORTMENT.

"This city has the next to last most artistic class of names for its outlying sections of any city it has been my pleasure to run across," remarked a stranger in the city the other day. "There is 'Poverty Hill,' 'Hungry Hollow,' 'Log Town,' 'Mill Town,' 'Pig Town' and 'Poker Flat'." All flourishing and growing with the rest of the city. A rather aristocratic appearing lady who rode from the depot in the same bus with me yesterday, gave the driver the address she desired to be taken to, when he stopped to let me out, and asked if he knew where to find it. Sure, he remarked, I know that block well, its right over here in Pig Town."

PUSH IT ALONG.

Bro. Hooper of the Minocqua Times is agitating the question of telephone connection between Minocqua and Rhinelander. He thinks all towns in the county of the size of Minocqua should have telephone communication with the county seat. And they should. His plan is to organize a mutual company limiting the stock sold to one party so that no one person could gain control of it. No doubt business men here and at Minocqua would be willing to invest in a small amount of stock each, to boost the enterprise along. Here's to Bro. Hooper's latest scheme.

THE INSURANCE PROBE.

James Hazen Hyde, testifying before the New York insurance legislative committee, declared that the Mercantile Trust company, an offshoot of the Equitable Life, paid $75,000 to former Gov. Entire Crew May Have Been Lost—The Vessel Sinks With All Hands—Who have No Chance to Escape—The Boat Strikes on a Ledge.

Clark's Harbor, N. S., Nov. 21.—The Norwegian steamer Turbin, with her captain and crew of about sixteen men, is thought to have foundered in a terrific gale which swept over Nova Scotia last Friday.

The coasting steamer Edna F., which arrived here yesterday from Mod Island, brought news that on Friday about 3 p. m. a large steamer, supposed to be the Turbin, struck Black Rock ledge off the south coast of the province, backed off in a few minutes and then disappeared.

Persons on the island who saw the steamer strike on the ledge were a considerable distance away, and owing to the tremendous sea running it was impossible to launch a boat.

No persons could be discerned aboard the craft and so quickly did the steamer go down that no opportunity was given the crew to fight for their lives. No boat could have lived an instant in the sea that was running. While the craft hung on the rocks, the sea made a clean breach over her.

Suddenly a giant comb lifted her from her resting place and the next instant she took the fatal plunge, carrying, it is believed all down with her.

The people of the island have no means of communicating with the main land until a steamer calls there, or the weather is sufficiently moderate to permit them to launch their own boats, and in consequence of the isolated position the first news of the wreck only reached here yesterday.

The Turbin was bound from Sydney with a cargo of coal for Yarmouth. She was in command of Capt. Knudsen and had a crew of sixteen or eighteen, all Norwegians. The steamer was last reported as passing Port Mulgrave, N. S., on Tuesday night.

The Turbin was a single screw steel steamer of 721 tons gross. She was built at Hoboken, Belgium, in 1902.

She was owned by the Aktieselskabet Turbin. P. A. Green is managing owner. The vessel, hailed from Sandefjord, Norway.

KILLED IN WRECK.

Conductor Smiley and Wife are Killed in a Collision on the Soo Road Near Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 21.—A rear-end collision of two freight trains at the railroad crossing a half mile north of here about noon Sunday resulted in a tragedy which had horrified the city.

A special Soo freight was run into by a regular train which was following it. The accident occurred at a curve. In the caboose of the extra freight was Conductor G. W. Smiley of Glenwood and his wife and 9-year-old daughter Mabel, who were simply making a Sunday trip on the freight in order to spend the day with the husband and father.

The engine of the regular freight crashed into the rear of the extra freight with great force and so suddenly that the occupants of the caboose had absolutely no chance to escape.

The light car was smashed to pieces. Conductor Smiley was injured so badly that he died within a few minutes, and to add to the horror of the wreck the caboose took fire from the engine which had smashed into it and the body of the unfortunate conductor was burned in the wreckage.

Mrs. Smiley was killed instantly, but her body was thrown to one side and escaped the flames which devoured her husband.

No Coal War.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 20.—The Ledger says that an anti-trust feeling is evident throughout the anthracite region. There is a decidedly strong tendency toward the renewal of the present wage agreement and the continuation of the award of the strike commission.

The attitude of the local crowd is believed to be favorable for peace, and the fact that they are shipping quantities of coal which they have been storing for several years is regarded as evidence that they look for a continuation of peace for another year at least.

Throne is Tendered.

Copenhagen, Nov. 21.—The throne of Norway was formally tendered to Prince Karl of Denmark Monday morning by a deputation of members of the Norwegian parliament, and was accepted by King Christian in behalf of his grandson. The brief ceremony in the palace recalled the similar one in 1862, when the throne of Greece was presented to Prince George of Denmark.

Gold Output.

Lead, S. D., Nov. 13.—The Black Hills has produced in the last twenty-five years about $140,000,000 in gold. These are figures taken from a recent estimate by one of the principal mining men of this city. This output is from the mills and from the placer mines and is based on actual returns. Just what the Black Hills has produced outside this record no person could ever estimate. Thousands of dollars were mined and sent out in private ways, which never have been recorded.

W. R. Estes Dead.

Madison, Minn., Nov. 18.—A cablegram announcing the death of United States Consul William R. Estes, recently appointed to the post of Zittau, Germany, and a former politician of Minnesota, was received by S. R. Estes, a brother, from Solingen, Germany, where Mr. Estes has been situated. The message contained only three words, as follows:

"Brother died pneumonia." A wife and four children survive. Consul Estes and his body probably will be brought here for burial. The exact time is not known.

Schmitt, Winona, Minn., accidentally shot and killed at Wilson, Minn. There has also been a large number of the smaller accidents.

Inheritance Tax Evaded. Milwaukee.—The state of Wisconsin is about to begin suit against several large estates to collect inheritance taxes alleged to be due on gifts made prior to the death of the donors, but on which in reality inheritance taxes should have been paid. It is said the state has lost more than $1,000,000 through this alleged evasion and that one of the estates against which suit is under contemplation is that of the late Frederick Pabst, who, it is claimed by the state authorities, made gifts amounting to $2,000,000, most of which are within the scope of the law.

Woman Firebug Defies Police. Marinette.—A firebug, supposed to be a woman, who has been setting fires in every part of the city for the last four weeks, has scored her twentieth blaze, and the losses will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Citizens formed posses to aid the police in a search for the woman, and several hot chases resulted, but in each instance the woman jumped fences and dodged through alleys as though a man in woman's garb.

Hunting Season Opens. Milwaukee.—Wisconsin's big game hunting season opened with carnage, two hunters being killed. In the week preceding the opening of the season one hunter was killed and six wounded. In the closed season previously 13 game hunters had been killed. Fifteen others had been wounded, but recovered. All previous records were broken.

Farmer Finds Black Pearl. Manitowish.—Emil Kretzke, a farmer at Nesbitt, found a perfect black pearl in the Nesbitt river, for which he has refused $200. His collection is now valued at $10,000. Other farmers are making finds.

Madison.—The Wisconsin supreme court held that, in granting divorces, judges cannot award children to outsiders, but must give the children to one parent or the other.

Madison.—The University of Wisconsin has broken all its previous records for attendance. There are now 2,222 students enrolled and before the close of the present year a total of 2,600 will have been reached.

Racine.—Anton Macho, a farmhand aged 25 years, was struck by an interurban electric car at Willow Creek and died while being brought to this city after the accident.

Perry.—The People's savings bank has opened its doors to the public. It is capitalized at $25,000. J. P. O'Malley is president, and John Carmody, formerly connected with the People's savings bank and the Marquette bank in Des Moines, is cashier.

Fort Madison.—A. Gullich and Albert Lyons, two young farmers of this county, are having their preliminary hearing on the charge of uncoupling an engine from a C. R. & Q. passenger train, which was running at full speed.

Milwaukee.—Federal Judge Charles has sustained ten counts in the indictment against former Assistant Cashier Henry G. Goll, of the First national bank, and set the case for the January term.

Milwaukee.—Creditors of the bankrupt Two Rivers Manufacturing company will receive 21 cents on the dollar for their claims.

Neshanic.—Twelve city business men were swindled in sums ranging from $1 to $20 by a cigar vendor who allowed customers to sample a box containing ten cent cigars and then sold them a cheap variety.

Beloit.—President Eaton, of Beloit college, who after 19 years of service has resigned on account of poor health, was presented by the trustees with a most elaborate silver dinner service and the faculty gave him a loving cup.

Muskegon.—Muskegon has an anti-spitting ordinance. The first offender was the president of the village, who paid his fine of one dollar, the minimum fine of the law without a grumble.

Madison.—Edward Kvernman suffered from a peculiar accident recently. While trying to imitate a certain minister saying "amen" his jaw became dislocated and it was necessary to send for a doctor.

Madison.—The annual harvest of the cranberry crop in northern Wisconsin is about over and reports from that section indicate a visible shortage in the supply, the present season being the lightest in several years.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Ellen Stone, the American missionary who, was captured by brigands several years ago, will open a female college at Monastir, which will be conducted on American lines. Rhodes scholars at Oxford university, England, have come to be known as "Rhodesians." This is not in any way a term of reproach, for so far the young men have been conspicuously successful both intellectually and socially.

The Ramsbottom (England) education committee granted all the school children of the town a half holiday on the occasion of the visit of a circus. In order "to give the poorer children an opportunity of seeing unfamiliar animals."

A remarkably successful attempt is making in Germany to instill in the public school children a love for plant culture. Last year a gardening association inaugurated a system by which flowers and plants in pots were presented to a large number of children, and prizes, to be awarded at the end of the summer school term this year, were offered to such as should merit them by the care of their plants. In a single town, Wuerzburg, 123 children received these prizes at the school exhibitions.

"Cross-Roader" Accosts Him on Business Street—Invites Him to Inspect Some "Rare Old Mexican Slippers"—Tries to Work "Top and Bottom" Game in Saloon—"Victim" Disconcerts Gang and Is $3 to the Good.

(Copyright, 1908, by Joseph B. Bowles.) Some years ago I went on a business trip to Toledo, O. The noon of the day I arrived I took a stroll down Summit street, and coming to a large display in the show window, I stepped up to the window to look at a particular silk dress pattern. While wondering whether I should buy it for my wife, I was suddenly approached by a quick-tongued man. "That piece of silk certainly is a beauty, isn't it?" he said. My first glance at him convinced me that I had struck a "cross roader" and at once I determined to let him take me "the limit."

He was a man 55 or 60 years of age, with silver hair and whiskers cropped closely. He was well groomed, wore a derby hat, patent leather shoes, and in fact had every appearance of a well-to-do business man.

In answer to his question I said:

"WAL YOU CERTAINLY HAVE STEERED AN 'EAST MARK' UP AGAINST ME THIS TIME, HAVEN'T YOU?"

"Yes, it is a beauty, and I think I shall go inside and buy it for my wife." "That's right," he answered in a jovial sort of way, slapping me on the shoulder; "I like to see a man spend his money on his wife, and I'll go in and see how much it will cost you." After buying the dress pattern I remarked that I would take it to my hotel.

would have thought that he and I had been life-long friends, so very interested were we in each other. Just before we reached my hotel he began telling me of three beautiful pairs of slippers he had bought from an old Mexican Indian who had made them by hand, and then he expressed a desire to have me see them; in fact, would like to present me with one pair.

"Where are they?" I inquired. "Just across the river, at an old shoemaker's shop. I took them over yesterday to have soles put on them. What I bought of the old Indian was just the uppers or tops. Oh! but they are fine."

"I have got to go to my hotel," said I, "to leave this bundle and write a letter or two. I may see you later."

I knew well that I had only to come out in a reasonable length of time to again encounter him.

I wrote my letter and chatted with one or two acquaintances. Then I started out, and coming to Summit street, turned and walked north for some distance. Suddenly I received a tap on the shoulder and someone exclaimed: "Well, we meet again!"

"Sure enough," I laughed, and remarked that I was simply killing time until my train left for the east that evening.

"If you have time," said he, "suppose we go over on the East side, where I left those slippers. I want you to have a pair of them. I can't use them all."

"No, no," insisted my acquaintance; "I shall do nothing of the kind; we can pay for our own drinks." "Wal, then," said the southerner, "I'll shake you the dice to see who pays for the drinks."

My new acquaintance agreed, and as he shook the box and turned it over with the dice under it he said to the southerner: "I'll bet you ten dollars that I can guess nearer to the number of spots on top and bottom than you can."

"All right," came the quick reply, and bringing out a big roll of bills, he murmured: "Gosh! 'Spect I'll squander all the money I got for them cattle afore I get out of this blamed town."

When the money was put up my friend whispered to me: "You are in with this."

The box was raised and my acquaintance, of course, had won. The cattle dealer said: "By Gosh, you win this time, suah. Jes' wait till I get a seegar and I'll try that ag'in."

He took plenty of time, during which my friend showed me that the fellow was a "greeny" and didn't understand that a man couldn't throw over a certain number. Handling me the ten-dollar bill, he said: "I know if I had lost you would have stood for half of it, so half of this is yours."

The moment they had begun their play I recognized their game as one of the very oldest, known as "Top and Bottom." It was a game that had been played all over the west 25 years before by two men named Stoneburner and Munson, and while I had never met either of these grafters, I had heard of them.

Knowing well that my friend's particular reason for dividing with me was to see how much money I had, I took pains to show my roll, consisting of a bunch of money, and after handing him a five, I placed the ten with the rest, then carefully shoved it into my pocket. The cattleman, having purchased and lighted his cigar, returned to the bar.

PRACTICAL POINTS FOR BOYS WITH AMBITION AND GENIUS.

How to Make a Library Table in the Pure Mission Style—Stock List for Same.

BY JAMES RITCHIEY, Instructor in Wood-Working and Pattern-Making, Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago.

Copyright, 1908, by Joseph B. Bowles.

In the library table illustrated in Fig. 157 we have a good example of the pure Mission style, with legs projecting above the top, and the large shelf for books and papers, with key and wedge connections. This table differs from the ordinary in having a drawer in each end, allowing them to be of greater length, and being very convenient of access when sitting against the side of the table.

The size of the top is 48x30 inches, and the height of the table is 30 inches. The shelf is 12 inches wide, but is placed so high as to be out of the way when sitting at the table.

In Fig. 159 the two inside sides of one of the legs are shown in detail, the side shown at A giving the positions of the two drawer rails, and also that of the shelf rail which is situated 19 1/2 inches below the lower drawer rail. At B the position of the side rail is given, and also the lengths for the chamfers on the corners of the leg.

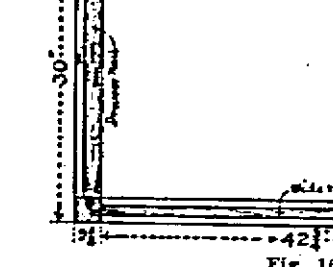

Fig. 159.

These chamfered corners, as shown in Figs. 157 and 158, are in perfect keeping with this style of table, but may be omitted and the leg made plain and square, as shown in the end view of the table in Fig. 159. The radius of curvature for the top end of the leg is 20 inches, as shown in Fig. 160, and the curve must be cut in both directions as at A and A'. Great care will be required to keep the angles straight and clearly defined, as shown at B. While these curved lines are to be preferred for the projection of a table leg above the top, the straight angular end shown at C is more in keeping with Mission style, or the ends may be made perfectly flat or square, simply projecting one-quarter or three-eighths of an inch above the top board of the table, as shown at D.

In Fig. 161 a plan of the table frame is shown, from which it will be seen that the drawer rails, and also the side rails, the strip C, A, C and D may be glued and nailed in position, but a much stronger construction will be obtained if wood screws are used instead of nails in all work of this kind.

At back one inch from the outside edges of the legs, while the two shelf rails (see Fig. 162) must be placed exactly in ing a cross section through the legs, shelf rail, and shell. The two drawers will each be 24 1/2 inches long, 23 1/2 inches wide, and 4 1/2 inches deep, and the construction will be the same in all respects as that given for the drawer of the students' table under Fig. 142.

In Fig. 163 a vertical section through the two drawer rails A, and also the

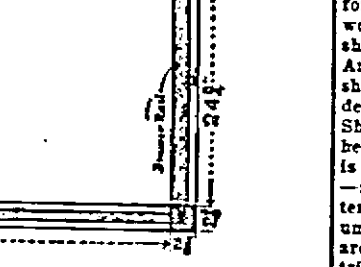

Fig. 164.

As a further ornamentation, a dot moulding one inch wide and one-quarter inch in thickness may be glued on the lower outside edge of each side rail, as shown at G in Fig. 163.

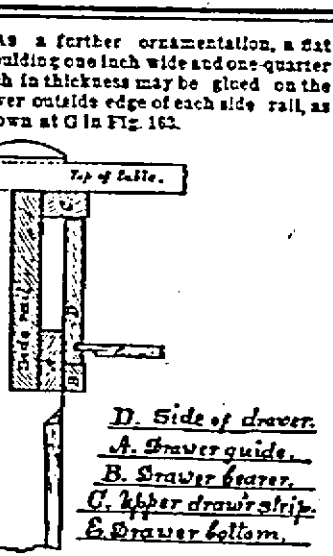

Fig. 164.

The stock list required for this table will be as follows:

4 pieces 2x4x8-in. legs.

2 pieces 2x4x4-in. side rails, tenons 1 inch long.

4 pieces 2x4x4-in. drawer rails, tenons 1 inch long.

2 pieces 2x4x4-in. drawer fronts.

1 piece 2x4x4-in. top for table.

1 piece 2x4x4-in. shelf.

1 piece 2x4x4-in. for four keys.

Also the following of clear pine or yellow poplar:

2 pieces 2x4x4-in. drawer guide A—Fig. 163.

2 pieces 2x4x4-in. upper drawer strip C—Fig. 162.

2 pieces 2x4x4-in. drawer bearers B—Fig. 163.

4 pieces 2x4x4-in. drawer sides.

2 pieces 2x4x4-in. drawer backs.

2 pieces 2x4x4-in. drawer bottoms.

AFTER GRADUATION.

OCCUPATIONS OF GIRL STUDENTS WHEN EDUCATED.

Large Percentage Take Up the Occupation of Teaching and Other Light Work—Many Get Married.

"What becomes of the college girls? Why, nothing very unusual happens to them," said a college president. "They scatter all over the country and do nothing particularly sensational. "I've just been looking over the class book of a class that has been out of college ten years and the statistics show a strong tendency toward teaching and travel. There were about 141 in the class when it graduated, and up to date only 41 husbands have been acquired."

"One-third of the class has traveled abroad, while all but 20 mention teaching and tutoring. About 55 have done graduate work at other schools and colleges."

"What the girls themselves regard as the most important incident or spot in the ten years since their graduation varies as much as the girls themselves. 'Married on the hottest day you ever saw to the best fellow,' records one. 'Married a lieutenant in the United States navy and since then have lived in a trunk in various places as near the seacoast as possible,' writes another."

"One young woman writes tersely: 'My native town can boast but one same college woman and my family questions that.' Another records: 'Had an attack of typhoid fever at Constantinople which necessitated a French hospital, a Greek physician, a nurse who spoke German and Turks to carry Sedan chairs.'"

"A model aunt endeavoring to show four sisters how to bring up children, frankly records another graduate. 'Last two years occupied with clerical work, household cares and an advanced course in measles,' is another record. Bookbinding has been the occupation of one young woman."

"Here's a young woman whose specialty has been surgery, and she has performed a difficult operation on the maharajah at the palace of the maharajah of Oureha. And here is a girl who has evidently made up her mind that she is going to be a spinster, for she's adopted a little girl."

"This is the summing up of another: 'Spent last ten years in having surgical operations, writing books and music and learning to ride a bucking broncho.' The girl who writes this has a keen sense of humor: 'After two years of nervous exhaustion got married and am now emulating 'The Commuter's Wife' in building a house and garden.' And look at this girl. After acquiring various degrees on deep subjects and writing a learned thesis, she says her present occupation is 'nursemaid and housekeeping.'"

"I defy anyone to make a thrilling tale out of ten years in a private school," writes one young woman, and another gives evidence that teaching has not been an unmitigated joy by writing: 'For a year taught everything under heaven, and now my specialties have immersed down to Greek and physical culture.'"

"Packed and unpacked," is the brief history of another. "The most enthusiastic naturalist in the state of Vermont," is another record. "Been doing a little illustrating, bear shooting and chaparraling," modestly writes one young woman who has really achieved considerable fame as an artist."

"The pathetic record of another is: 'Have achieved neither fame nor matrimony, but belong to many societies, most of them respectable.'"

"But there is one feature about the history of this class that is worth noting. Nearly every member of it has been busy in one way or another, if they have not been earning their living or studying they have interested themselves in settlement work, church work, etc."

Love and Landlording. The Korean mother, anxious to assure her daughter's successful marriage, makes certain that the young woman becomes a good landlady, for ability in this direction counts for more than beauty with the Korean. He does not even demand that his wife shall be more than a fairly good cook, but she must be able to keep fresh and spotless the linen garments which every one, from prince to peasant, wears. In spite of the fact that every article of wearing apparel is of white linen not even the humble matron has made its appearance in Korea, and the attempts to introduce such occidental fads as washing machines and wringers have met with marked disaster. The laundry work is done in the same manner as it was centuries ago, and the first recommendation to a young man's favor is ability as a landlady.

Mexican Banking Development. The development of banking in Mexico is shown by the fact that during the six months ended June 30 the combined capital of the chartered banks of the republic increased from $109,600,000 to $127,563,611. Following are some increases noted: Banco Central Mexicano, $11,000,000; Banco de Londres y Mexico, $6,500,000; Banco de Tabasco, $100,000; Banco de Tamaulipas, $100,000; Banco Comercial Refaccionario de Chihuahua, $50,000; Banco Nacional de Mexico, $27,027; total, $17,256,311.

Commercial Conflict. A commercial war is raging between Canada and Australia. The commonwealth, in the interests of Australian manufacturers, is striving with might and main to keep out Canadian harvesting machinery and the dominion is retaliating by giving a preference to the wines of the Cape Colony that will practically boycott the wines of Australia.

In Chicago. Highwayman—Your money or your life, mister! Native—But you are not the fellow who usually robs me at this corner. "No, but it's all right; I've bought his route."—Puck.

Safety in Numbers.

A worldly father, after the style of Lord Chesterfield, was giving good advice to his son, who was about to enter society. And above all, avoid flirtations; but if you must flirt or fall in love, do so sure that it is with a pretty woman. It is always safer. "Why?" asked the young man. "Because some other fellow will be sure to be attracted, and cut you out before any harm has been done."—Stray Stories.

Salt Water Beer.

A firm of brewers at Surfleet, near Spalding, Lincolnshire, England, has had to destroy 6,000 gallons of beer, it being found that the water used in the manufacture was impregnated with salt. The water was obtained from the River Glen, into which salt water from the River Welland had found its way.

Growth of Fraternal Societies.

In the broadest sense the fraternal societies of the United States have enjoyed gains far exceeding the rate of increase in the population of the country. This phase of American life means much for the unity and harmony of the nation. The great fraternal societies know neither sectional nor racial lines. They bring together many elements of the population, often widely separated in other interests and associations, in a spirit of cooperation and mutual helpfulness. It is good training for a self-governing people of heterogeneous nationalities occupying a country the extent of which is in some measure conducive to sectional differences and local differences.—Cleveland Leader.

"What hotel are you stopping at?" he asked; when I told him, he said: "I am going in that direction and will accompany you."

He immediately began telling me of a most delightful trip he and his wife had recently had through Mexico. One

Discussing the Equitable Life Insurance affairs, some newspapers had the startling headlines, "Which gentleman, Hyde or Harriman lied under oath?" That is striking! But will a gentleman lie while under oath? A man who stands under the charge of perjury has no right to the title of gentleman.

The State Dairy and Food Commission, under Mr. J. Q. Emery, Commissioner, is becoming a valuable factor in the regulations regarding pure foods, more nearly meeting the expectations of the law when it was passed some sixteen years ago, than ever before.

Of late Mr. Emery has caused the investigation of meat, especially sausage, and several arrests and convictions have followed. Boreacic acid has been found in injurious quantities, positively contrary to law.

A few more convictions and wholesale dealers will cease putting in the preservative, boreacic acid.

The Sentinel tries to make an ado about Governor La Follette's salary while absent from the state.

The governor, it is said, drew his salary of $116 per month, less the amount which is allowed Lieutenant Governor Davidson while acting as governor, five dollars per day.

This is a constitutional provision. Thus the executive cost the state exactly $116 per month, just as it has for many years, and good service has been done.

Heretofore, I think, in every case where a governor from illness or absence from the state has called the lieutenant governor to the chair, the governor has drawn his full salary of $116 per month, and the lieutenant governor has taken his per diem of five dollars. So, score another for Governor La Follette. He has done what no other governor ever did, refused to take the full amount of his salary while off duty.

We are in receipt of a long letter from Madison to show there are no state taxes this year and have been none for three years.

That may be so, and we presume it is, because way back more than fifteen years ago the same statement was made, "No state taxes this year."

And yet, when the taxes were paid there was no decrease in amount over preceding years, and there will be no change this year. Of course the so-called "general fund" of the state is kept up from railroad taxes, license moneys, etc. But the school taxes (state) and the care of insane and unfortunate (the latter rated as county taxes) will be no less and judging by the past will be more.

Local taxes may be a little more in some cities, but not much, and the fact still remains that taxes will be no less, notwithstanding the stereotyped announcement of "No state taxes this year." And people better not be deceived with the thought that taxes may be lower, because it will lead to disappointment.

Our disbursements of money to the University and to Normal schools, (from railroad fund, even as our correspondent says) is extraordinary if not extravagant and profligate. And the tax payers feel that this railroad fund might well be applied to defraying other expenses rather than cheapening funds on the State University and Normal schools.

Sensational charges have been made by an individual of crime and inhuman treatment of inmates at the Waupun Veterans' Home.

One charge was that a patient was required to pay for medicine and attention by the physician. The Commissioner said the doctor did require pay and the money to be paid into the maintenance fund. The physician said to the benefited veteran, "You have money to buy whiskey. You might better pay for your medical services so that you can be used to buy beer."

The physician was right. It is mistaken or misapplied charity to punish any old soldier so that he may have money only for whiskey. Better for him and better for humanity to not furnish any pension to an old soldier who uses it solely for whiskey.

Outside the National Soldiers Home, Milwaukee, there are perhaps thirty saloons there like buzzards waiting for pay day. About all of the patronage of these saloons comes from old soldiers who live at the home, and use their pension money for whiskey.

No old soldier, who squanders more than twenty-five per cent of his pension for whiskey, should be kept on the pension rolls.

But, to return to the Wisconsin Veterans' Home. From all information we can get, it is well managed, and no charge of inhuman treatment can be sustained.

Hon. John J. Esch, the able congressman of the seventh district in this state, has spoken against the establishment of a parcel post, on the grounds that it would increase the small order business of merchants of large towns to the detriment of the smaller merchants in country places.

To us, this is a trifling argument, when we consider the "greatest good to the greatest number." To continue or permit express companies to levy their extortionate charges as they are now doing is positive injustice if not criminal.

Mr. Esch would have the express companies controlled by the government, so that their charges should not be excessive. A nice thought, but it would be a strange law that the express magnates could not evade. The commissioners would soon find themselves like the present Interstate commerce commission, bereft of everything only their salaries and such "suggestions" as they might make. Tom Platt, president of the U. S. Express Company and U. S. Senator from New York would attend closely to the construction of such a law.

The facts are the express companies are extortionists of the worst type and the only way to bring them to reasonable charges is to establish opposition like the parcel post.

Mr. Esch's point on increasing the business of the mail order houses, to the detriment of home merchants seems to be well taken, but hardly sustained by the facts in such cases. For instance, the present rates do not prevent people from trying the city mail order houses, but few people ever try them more than once, because they learn that they get cheap goods at cheap prices, always.

And today these large (?) houses, which at best are buying goods on commission, are doing less country business than they were a year ago. The customers, or nearly all of them, have learned their lessons, that they can buy better goods for the same money right at home.

So, the parcel post would not restore this trade, neither increase it in any way. But it would save to the consumers thousands of dollars which they now pay (indirectly it may be) to the express companies.

We entrust the government to carry out most important and dearest packages, letters, papers, magazines, why not as well trust to its care our packages up to the same quantity which are successfully transmitted in Germany and other countries of the old world?

THE WILLIAM H. WEST BIG JUBILEE MINSTRELS.

With a sumptuous setting, all in white and glittering with gold ornamentation, the William H. West Big Jubilee Minstrels' First Part is a splendid scenic background for the hour's brilliant musical and comely entertainment that precedes an olio, fraught with some of the most pronounced novelty features ever assembled for minstrel purposes. Manager Riechy had good and sufficient reasons to be thus encouraged, for the recent record of success attained by the West trade mark, invited so much liberality of investment and the scanning of list of attractions that are bound to furnish delightful pleasure to the masses of theatre patrons. The West organization of singers, dancers, comedians and novelty performers will visit here at the Grand Opera House next Tuesday, Nov. 24th.

BLAME WOMEN FOR INSANE

London Physician Says Growth of Insanity Among English Is Due to Neglect of Fair Sex.

London.—The neglect by women of their proper role in life, their adoption of mental occupations in place of their domestic duties, improper methods of education, and the migration from the country to the town were among the main reasons adduced by Dr. T. Baileys Hyslop, physician to the Debleben hospital, in an address which he delivered before the British Medical association at Leicester for the alarming growth of insanity in the British race.

"When we come to take actual survey of the present position of our people," said Dr. Hyslop, "we see that a remarkable transformation has taken place. We have passed from an artificial state to an artificial one of brain activity with all its attendant evils. Our system of education is, in fact, responsible for improving the population of the face of the country districts. "Ever since the passing of the education act of 1870 we have been striving after the unattainable. The brain tax on the rising generation has become more and more irksome, and the sum of paperism, overworking, and insanity, has increased by leaps and bounds far beyond anything ever before known in the history of the empire, and to-day we are faced with the question whether the mental and physical health of the rising generation is not of more importance than the mere accumulation of knowledge."

On the one hand we were faced by the problem of overeducation, and on the other hand the fixing by the trade unions of the standard of energy according to the capacity of the very worst was doing a great deal to injure the physical condition of the people.

Thanksgiving Day

First among powers, fit and free
We owe no nation lord,
First to gain glorious liberty
By each home lover's sword.
Let others pay for marital dead,
Our citizens support our need,
To simple men we give the meed,
On this Thanksgiving Day.

First among nations, land and sea
Pay tribute to our might,
The tireless wheels of industry
Cease neither day nor night.
So have we treasured up our gold,
So we the reins of commerce hold,
From every heart let thanks be trold
On this Thanksgiving Day.

First among peoples, while we stand
Simple and true to right,
Last among peoples, if our land
Falls under Mammon's blight,
For all the fruits of honesty,
For all the joys of liberty,
For individuals' majesty,
We thank Thee, Lord, this day.

A RECOVERED THANKSGIVING

By BERTHA E. BUSH

Uncle John, I didn't have any Thanksgiving. And now it's all gone by. I feel dreadfully. If I live to be ever so old, I can't make up for this Thanksgiving."

The little voice was very cheerful, and the boy's hand that clung to his very small and soft. The young man longed to comfort this small neighbor of his, who was dearer than the little pieces from whom she had caught this way of addressing him. Perhaps that was because her face against the pillow looked so much like that other face that was the loveliest in the world to him. But how could he be a comfort when he was in need of comfort himself?

"It's too bad, Maisie, but you aren't the only one who has had hard times," he said. "I didn't have any Thanksgiving."

"Why, Uncle John, you want to the dinner. Mamma said so. And you had turkey and cranberries and ice cream and oranges. I would have gone, too, if I had not been sick. Mamma was going to stay at home with me, but Aunt Ruth said she wanted to, so mamma went. Wasn't that funny? I don't see how Aunt Ruth could have wanted to stay at home. I wanted to go dreadfully. I pretty near cried."

"So did I," said the young man, under his breath. Maisie went on: "You see, this was going to be such a lovely Thanksgiving, and I had planned about it so long. I haven't ever been invited to a big folks' Thanksgiving dinner before, and all the people I liked best were going to be there—you and Aunt Ruth, and mamma, and papa, and the rest. And Mrs. Smith has such lovely dinners, everybody says. It seems as if I just couldn't stand it. I had counted the days ever since there was a hundred, I guess. But, Uncle John, why didn't you have a Thanksgiving? Couldn't you eat any dinner? Did you have a stomach ache, too?"

"No," said Uncle John. "I had a different kind of an ache."

"What kind of an ache?" persisted Maisie.

"A heart-ache," answered Uncle John. "My Thanksgiving wasn't there. Then he began to tell her of his confidence. 'It takes more than a dinner to make Thanksgiving for grown people,' he said, lightly.

"Maisie," called a soft voice from the hall.

"It's Aunt Ruth," cried Maisie, starting up in delight. But with just one glance at the tall figure beside Maisie's sofa, Aunt Ruth fed up-stairs.

"Isn't it funny?" mused Maisie. "Aunt Ruth used to just like to be where you were, and now she won't come at all. Every time she sees you, she seems as if she ran away. I don't like it."

"I don't like it either," said the young man, in such a strange tone that Maisie looked at him curiously. "Well, I suppose I'd better go now. What would you like to have me bring you the next time I come?"

"Another Thanksgiving day. That's what I want most," said Maisie, with a wistful smile. "Uncle John," suddenly, "who makes Thanksgiving day?"

TURKEY GIBLETS

The Season's Travesty.

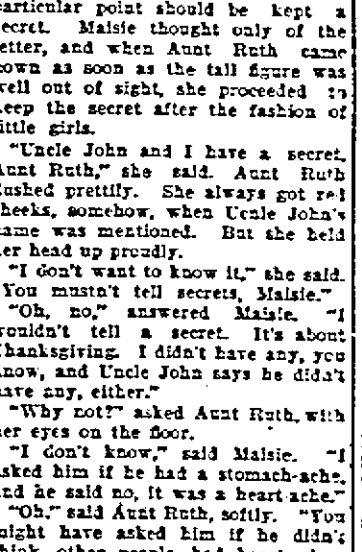

Mrs. Dorcas—How is it, my poor man, you have no Thanksgiving dinner this year?

Tattered Tom—I followed yer advice, mum. I was good dis year, an' didn't do nothin' to git committed to de island—Judge.

Realism.

Editor—I liked your Thanksgiving jokes, Mr. Scribbs, but you didn't get them in early enough.

Mr. Scribbs—Well, that's it, you see. I can't make 'em, unless I'm full of turkey and cranberry sauce.

NEITHER SORT OF A BIRD.

"I'm very thankful I'm not a turkey," slurred Miss Elder, as Mrs. Small's boarders gathered around the table.

"And no one ever takes you for a spring chicken," replied Miss Flynn.

A Hard Choice.

Jimmy—Wot yer cryin' fer, Johnny?

Johnny—I want you ter de foot-ball game.

Jimmy—Wot don't yer sneak away 'n' see it?

Johnny—I'm afraid all de turkey'll be eat up by de time I git back.

On Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. O'Toole—Arrah, Pat, an' how yer fed 'e goat to-day?

Mr. O'Toole—Thot Ol' have, an' a foine male it was, too. Ol' gave him 'e paper to ate wid 'e president's Thanksgiving proclamation in it.

Cashier May Flee in Bank.

The scampering cashier hereafter can flee Canada ward in a bank of his own. This motor bank, for which patents have been issued, is an electric car to be built of chilled steel, with double walls, with one-inch space between. In one corner is located a burglar proof safe, while desk and working room for several clerks are also provided. The car has a touring radius of 50 miles and will cost over $5,000. It is to be used by the bank in collecting from depositors, especially from shopkeepers at night, and is to be sent to various parts of the city to receive deposits of commercial and savings accounts. This can be done with perfect safety, since the automobile bank is to be absolutely burglar proof.

Tells of "Ailing Habit."

Here is a bit of good advice from a domestic contemporary concerning the "ailing habit": "If you are not well, don't talk about it. To do so only exaggerates your consciousness of a physical gloom over other people. They grow hesitant about asking you how you feel; it gives them cold chills to be continually told that you are 'not very well' or 'not so well' or 'about the same.' Do you know that a good deal of this is imagination? If you braced up and told people cheerily that you felt tip-top fine chances are ten you would feel tip-top pretty soon. You'd forget the ailing habit."

Simplicity of Science.

"Student—I learn that there are cases in which people have had from childhood an uncontrollable desire to eat soap. What is the cause for that?"

Learner Professor—They are victims of saponomania.

Student—Um—what does saponomania mean?

Learner Professor—A desire to eat soap.—N. Y. Weekly.

PECK'S BAD BOY WITH THE CIRCUS

By HON. GEORGE W. PECK

The Bad Boy Visits the Circus in Winter Quarters—He Meets the Circus Performers—Dad Rides a Horse and Gets Tossed in a Blanket—The Bad Boy Goes "Kangarooing"—Pa's Clothes Cause Excitement Among the Animals—A Monkey Steals His Watch.

April 15.—We are now at the winter quarters of the show, in a little town, on a farm just outside, where the tent is put up and the animals are brought for the circus, and the performers are limbering up their joints, wearing overcoats to turn flip-flops, and every body has a cold, and looks blue, and all are anxious for warm weather.

Pa created a sensation when we arrived by his stunning clothes, his jet black chin whiskers, and his watch chain over his checkered vest, and when the proprietors introduced pa to the performers and hands, as an old stockholder in the show, who would act as assistant manager during the season, and pa smiled on them with a frown on his forehead, and said he hoped his relations with them would be pleasant, one of the old canvasmen remarked to a girl who rides two horses at once, with the horses strapped together, so they can't get too far apart and cause her to break in two, said that old goat with the silk hat would last just about four weeks, and that he reminded the canvasman of a big dog which barked at people as though he would eat them, and at the same time wagged his tail, so people would not think he was so confounded dangerous.

The principal proprietor of the circus told pa to make himself at home around the tent, and not be offended at any pleasantry on the part of the attaches of the show, for they were full of fun, and he went off to attend to some business and left pa with the gang. They were practicing riding bare-backed horses around the ring, with a rope hitched in a belt around the waist of the rider, and an arm swinging around from the center pole, so if they fell off the horse the rope would prevent the rider from falling to the ground, a practice that the best riders adopt early in the season, the same as new beginners, cause they up, and stomach hanging down like a pillow, his watch dangling about a foot down towards the ring, and the horse came around the ring again and as he went under pa, pa tried to get his foot on the horse's back, but he couldn't make it work, and pa said, as cross as could be, look there, you fellows, you let me down, or I will discharge every mother's son of you."

But they didn't seem to be scared, for one man caught the horse and let it out of the ring, and the man who handled the rope tied it to the center pole by a half hitch, and the fellows all went into the dressing-room, to play clinch on the trucks, leaving pa hanging there. Just then the boss canvasman came along, and he said: "Hello, old man, what you doing up there," and pa said some of the platters in the show had kidnapped him, and seemed to be holding him up for a ransom, and he said he would give ten dollars if some one would let him down.

The boss canvasman said he could fix it for ten, all right, and he blew a whistle, and the gang came back, and the boss said: "Bring a blanket and help this gentleman down," so they brought a big piece of canvas, with handles all around it, and about a dozen fellows held it, and the rope man let pa down on the canvas, and unhitched the ring, and when pa was in the canvas he laughed and said: "Thanks, gentlemen, I guess I am not much of a horseback rider," and then the fellows pulled on the handles of the canvas, and by gosh, pa shot up into the air half-way to the top of the tent, and when he came down they caught him in the canvas and tossed him up a whole lot of times, until pa said: "O, let up, and make it $20." Just then the proprietor who had introduced pa to the men came in and saw what was going on, and he said: "Here, you heathen, you quit this hanging right here," and they let pa down on the floor of the ring, and he got up and pulled his pants down, that had got up above his knees, and shook himself, and took out his roll, and peeled off a $20 bill and gave it to the canvasman, and he shook hands with them all, and said he liked a joke as well as anybody, and for them to spend the money to have a good time, and they all laughed, and patted pa on the back, and said he was a dead game sport, and would be an honor to the profession, and that now that he had taken the first degree as a circus man, he could call on them for any sacrifice, or any work, and he would find that they would be Johnny on the spot.

Then we went out to the dining tent and took dinner with the crowd, and had a jolly time. There was a woman trapeze performer on one side of pa at dinner, and she began to kick at once about the meals, and when the waiter brought a piece of meat to us all—a great big piece, that looked like corned beef, she said: "For heaven's sake, ain't that elephant that died last been eaten up yet," and then she told pa that they had been fed on that deceased elephant, until they all felt like they had trunks growing out of their heads, and pa poked the meat with his fork, and thought it was elephant, and he lost his appetite, and everybody laughed. I eat some of it, and if it was elephant, it was all right.

Well, when dinner was about over, all filled their glasses to drink to the health of pa, the old stockholder and new manager, and pa got up and bowed, and made a little speech, and when he sat down one of the circus girls was in his chair, and he sat in her lap, and the crowd all yelled, except a Spanish bull-fighter, who seemed to be the husband of the woman on a pa sat on, and he wanted pa's blood, but the old circus manager took him away to save pa from trouble, and he glared back at pa, and I think he will stab pa with a knife.

HOSPITALS CROWDED

MAJORITY OF PATIENTS WOMEN

It is a sad but true fact that every year brings an increase in the number of operations performed upon women in our hospitals. More than three-fourths of the patients lying on the operating table are women and girls who are awaiting or recovering from operations made necessary by neglect.

Every one of these patients had plenty of warning in that bearing down feeling, pain at the left or right of the womb, or a constant pressure in the small of the back, leucorrhoea, diarrhoea, flatulency, displacements of the womb or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the ovaries or womb, and if not heeded the trouble will make heavy on the penalty bill to be paid by a dangerous operation, and a lifetime of impaired usefulness at best, while in many cases the results are fatal.

The following letter should bring hope to suffering women. Miss Lucella Adams, of the Colonnade Hotel, Seattle, Wash., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I was a great sufferer from a severe female trouble, pains and headaches. The doctor prescribed for me and finally told me that I had a tumor on the women's organs, and that I must have an operation. I did not want to get well, I felt that this was my death warrant, but I spent hundreds of dollars for medical help, but the tumor kept growing. I corresponded with an aunt in the New England States, and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was said to cure tumors. I did so and immediately began to improve in health, and I was entirely cured, the tumor disappearing entirely, without an operation. I wish every suffering woman would try this great remedy.

Just as surely as Miss Adams was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman in the land who suffers from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability and nervous prostration.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all young women who have felt troubled for free advice. Address, Lynn, Mass.

ODDITIES OF INVENTION.

In Germany clocks have been run by wireless telegraphy. Portable wireless stations, so light that they can be carried by men, have also been devised by German inventors.

A recent French invention which utilizes electroplating for the deposit of extremely thin coatings of precious metals is said to make possible the gold plating of lace, without stiffening the fabric. Silver is used in the same way.

A machine has been invented for manufacturing cotton automobile tires. The tires are woven something like lampshades, only they are heavier and of coarser texture. They are said to resist a pressure of 6,000 pounds to the square inch.

Although not yet perfected, the Marjama telephone bids fair vastly to extend the field of usefulness of the long-distance telephone by rendering audible vibrations too faint to actuate the disk of the ordinary receiver or even the microphone instruments.

An automatic fire alarm recently patented in England sounds an alarm in a hotel office 12 seconds after a fire starts in any of its rooms. The apparatus is simply an application of the fact that heat causes expansion, sufficient in this case to complete an electric circuit.

Aluminum is being used in France to make alloys of brass for the construction of submarine boats. It has been found that the admixture of aluminum produces extraordinary changes in the color of the compound. A little aluminum makes it deep gold, and at a point where between five and ten per cent of aluminum is used it becomes rose-red. Over ten per cent of the lighter metal makes the alloy white.

PASSING OF PORRIDGE.

Makes Way for the Better Food of a Better Day.

"Porridge is no longer used for breakfast in my home," writes a loyal Briton from Huntsville, Ont. This was an admission of no small significance to one "brought up" on the time-honored stand-by.

"One month ago," she continues, "I bought a package of Grape-Nuts food for my husband, who had been an invalid for over a year. He had passed through a severe attack of pneumonia and a gripe combined, and was left in a very bad condition when they passed away."

"I tried everything for his benefit, but nothing seemed to do him any good. Month followed month and he still remained as weak as ever. I was almost discouraged about him when I got the Grape-Nuts, but the result has compensated me for my anxiety."

"In the one month that he has eaten Grape-Nuts he has gained 10 pounds in weight, his strength is rapidly returning to him, and he feels like a new man. Now he is all right Grape-Nuts food is the better for it. Our little 5-year-old boy, who used to suffer from pains in the stomach after eating the old-fashioned porridge, has no more trouble since he began to eat Grape-Nuts, and I have no more doctor's bills to pay for him."

"We use Grape-Nuts with only sweet cream, and find it the most tasty dish in our bill of fare."

"Last Monday I ate 4 teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast, nothing else, then set to work and got my morning's work done by 9 o'clock, and felt less tired, much stronger, than if I had made my breakfast on meat, potatoes, etc., as I used to. I wouldn't be without Grape-Nuts in the house for any money." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason.

RHODODENDRONS WASTED.
Native Woods Are Devastated to Plant the Millionaire's Hillside.

There is one plant which everybody knows and appreciates, viz. rhododendron. Small wonder that every millionaire wants to own a hillside and cover it with rhododendrons, for they are the most gorgeous flowering hardy shrubs the world has ever known, says the Garden Magazine. They have no fragrance or sentiment, as a rose has; the individual flowers are only one inch and a half across, and the clusters may contain less than a dozen blossoms, but when you get a solid bank five feet high and fifteen feet across, of rhododendron flowers set off by their thick, waxy, lustrous, dark green, immortal-looking foliage, it needs only one look to understand why people plant them in such quantities—by the carload!

But alas they perish by the carload, too. And one of the cruellest things a man can do is to drag up rhododendrons, azaleas or laurel from the woods, transplant them with no more care than a delicate shrub receives, put them in full sunlight and watch them sicken and die. All these broad-leaved evergreens are slow growers, shade lovers, haters of stagnant moisture, extremely sensitive to drought and sure to suffer if they are exposed to full sunshine during sudden warm spells in winter.
